A few words from Pastor Ray

Things are fluid and movement is happening here at Roxborough Church. I am so pumped and thankful for all of the ways that God has revealed himself through the ministry of our great church. Today as I write this, I am reminded of God's goodness to us. I hope that you too have experienced the presence of God and the favor of God in this great season of life and ministry.

There have been a number of building upgrades to note as of late. If you drive by the building at night, you will note that the sign is now lit up, and the front of the church has spot lights shining on it that have not previously worked for 5+ years. We made a few electrical repairs in the Youth Room including new outlets and fixing the emergency exit sign.

A group of college students came and served during a week in January, replacing the old cabinets of the Food Pantry with new shelving that will set us up well to be able to better serve our friends, helping to meet the food needs of our neighbors. Additionally that same group replaced the lighting throughout the building and constructed a new closet in the basement to address the storage needs that were in violation according to our state boiler inspection. God is good!
The building is not the only thing that is growing and improving. This month we hired an Interim Children's Director as we sadly said goodbye to Sly Williams, God quickly offered us the chance to transition Jahlil Davis Green onto our church staff. We are so thankful for his ministry with us and for all of the ways that he will be able to help lead our children through this next season of Gospel ministry.

As I look ahead, seeking to understand the will and ways of the Father for this church, I see great ministry opportunities coming. I have a January and February meeting scheduled with local seminaries to explore seminary pastoral internships, which would afford us extra hands in the ministry field with us here in Roxborough. We are again exploring the option of returning to Haiti in the Spring. The Children & Family team is beginning to plan their annual Easter Egg Hunt. Summer plans are starting to shape...but before we get there, I want to invite you to first live in this moment. Thankful for each moment that God has gifted us with. Let's journey into 2017 faithfully following Christ into these great seasons of ministry and life!

January Birthdays

- 6 Sabrina Hillanbrand
- 15 James Wade Jr.
- 25 Joan Granato
- 27 Cassandra Vercoe
- 30 Heather Wade Howard

If your birthday has not been listed, please contact the church office, we would like to include everyone on our Birthday List!

Welcome Jahlil Davis-Green, Interim Children's Director

We are excited to announce that Jahlil Davis-Green has joined our staff as the Interim Children's Director. He will remain on staff with us through the end of the school year, serving as the leader of Rush and Children's Church.

Jahlil has been active with Rush all year long, and remains connected to many of our kids through Fuel and through family relationships.

I am very excited to see Jahlil continue to offer continuity and stability to these two program areas.

We will have Amy Haller continuing to serve in her role as Assistant Children's Ministry.

Together these two will ensure that our kids are well cared for and equipped with the Gospel weekly.

Thanks for all that you do, to help us continue to spread the Gospel News to the ends of the earth.

Annual Church Meeting & Ministry Reports

- Janice Fetscher,
Church Administrator

The annual Church Meeting will be held Sunday, February 12th following worship. Please email your 2016 Ministry Reports to the church office on or before Sunday, January 29th office@roxboroughchurch.org

Annual Ministry Reports let the congregation know what has been happening with each ministry during the past year plus hopes and dreams for the year to come. The 2016 Annual Report will be reviewed during the Annual Church Meeting.

- Pastor Ray & Michelle Garcia

It is a bit crazy to think that 5 years have gone by...but they have. In 2017 it is our prayer and desire to really get to know our church. Outside of my office is a calendar that has available days marked in "yellow." Write your name on one of those days and plan on having a meal together with us. We can come together with or without kids. Dine in or meet up at a restaurant. Our hope is to really just get to know you. To sit together and share our stories, to talk and laugh and to journey in Christ together in 2017! We can not wait, and we hope you feel the same way. Sign up today.

Table Talk

-Amy Karl,
Food Ministry Coordinator

Happy New Year! This year provides new and great opportunities for The Table. We have been certified as a Philabundance Food Pantry. Through Philabundance we have better purchasing power, giving us more food for our dollar. We will be creating a team of walkers, and will participate in the Thomas' Walk for Hunger - April 8, 2017. This is an event where you can donate toward your favorite team of walkers. Please look for more information to come in the bulletins. We will have a remodel providing more storage for donated items, and we will be installing a walk in freezer. These new and upcoming opportunities will provide us with a better situation to further help our neighbors with the food insecurities they struggle with on a daily basis. A shopping cart has been donated to us by Giant, look for it at the bottom of the steps, just outside of the Welcome Center for your donations. Thank you for supporting The Table with your generous donations. We look forward to serving our neighbors during the new year.

Elder Diner celebrated Christmas with 72 attendees, our largest gathering ever. February and March are known to be cold outside, so these Elder Dinners will prove to be warm, action packed, and fun filled. If you are 55 or older, come on out and enjoy events, games, lunch, and fellowship. If you are younger than 55 and would still like to see what you have to look forward to, please feel free to come out to have great conversations, and help serve the folks who will be attending. Elder Diner meets on the first Monday of the Month February 6, and March 6 from 11:00 to 1:00.

A Word on Worship

- Scott Granato,
Director, Music & Worship

Happy New Year Church! I am very excited for all that the New Year holds for the life and ministry of our church. This last year has been a great year of ministry for the worship ministry and I look forward to what's next. I think we ended out the year strong with the Christmas Cantata, Christmas Eve, and Christmas Day services going very well. I really want to thank all the people that were involved with those worship times and helped to make them run so smoothly. I also want to thank everyone for their kind words and encouragement as well. We, at the church, are so blessed to have talented worship ministry volunteers and I am blessed to lead them each week. They are definitely an encouragement to me as I hope they are to you.

Looking to next year, it is my hope that the worship ministry continues to minister to you and lead you to worship God in new and deeper ways through the cooperate services we have. We are beginning the year focusing on "Starting Right". I will be working through this with the worship ministry volunteers and myself. My hope is that as the worship team and I start to unpack these concepts that you the congregation begin to see the reflection of that during our weekly worship gatherings. I truly believe that we as worship and music leaders have a great impact on those whom we lead. That the ways in which we worship God can encourage others to do the same through the power of the Holy Spirit. Please pray for use as we dive into this and I hope that you are led into a deeper relationship with God through what we offer each week.

Youth Update from Pastor Matt Hillanbrand

Hey Church,

We at Ignite Student Ministries are super excited about what God is doing! We have had a great finish to 2016. During the month of December we had a “party” every Sunday evening during group and the students loved every moment of it. The first week we had “brinner and a movie” in which the leaders cooked their favorite breakfast foods for the students and we watch a Christmas movie. The second night we had our 3rd annual Ugly Sweater Christmas Coffee House which was quite humorous. and for the Third night we had our Ignite Christmas Party and just like any youth group for the past 20 years, the one thing they wanted to do more than anything was... drum roll please... you guessed it: dodgeball. We had a blast and am so grateful for how it all worked together so well.

Leadership

Church I am currently praying and looking for 4 adults (2 men and 2 women) to join us in serving our students on Sunday evenings. If serving middle school or high school students seems like a dream ministry to you, then we are the right place for you to serve!

Please email me at youth@roxboroughchurch.org for more info.

Think Christianly

For the entire spring semester of this school year, we are taking our students through a journey of cultivating a biblical worldview and we are calling the spring series “Think Christianly”. Think Christianly is the title of a book by Jonathan Morrow in which we are going through and learning about many tough issues that we as believers must have a firm foundation on in order to tell our neighbors what God has to say about these topics and how we are to live. It covers such topics as pluralism, bioethics, how to interact someone of a different culture, gender issues, social media and more. Please pray of our leaders and students as we navigate through understanding how God wants us to view the world.

Winter Schedule

IGNITE: Sundays at 6pm

Guys Small Group: Tuesdays at 6:30 pm

High School Retreat: March 24-26 in Ocean City, MD

I pray that you find hope, comfort, rest, strength, trust and joy in the Lord and that you would become more and more like Christ.

MISSIONARY NEWS

A PEEK FROM THE PEAK!

- Liz Loeffler

Thanks so much for your prayers! My walking boot came off January 5th and my driving privileges have been restored.

Got my first swim in on that Saturday after months of inactivity and found out how very out of shape I am! It was also great to get behind the wheel once again and regain my independence.

I'm so grateful for the many folks for all the assistance during my recuperation time!

Later this month I'll be flying to California for the wedding of one of my Asian students, a good interim trip before my next overseas trip.

And when is that going to be? Good question! We are waiting to hear from our Asian partners for their acceptance of a proposal we made before the holidays, that we believe would jump start our second thrust there. Your prayers for wisdom and discernment in all this is very much needed and appreciated.

On the local front, I'll be meeting with the Pastor of Adult Education at my church here in Colorado Springs, discussing the possibility of bringing this training into the church. We have done several introductory sessions and I have been working, albeit slowly, to see this become a reality for over five years now! Your prayers for this will be most appreciated.

While we are waiting for our next move in Asia, I have not been idle. Being on the Leadership Team for the Women-to-Women Ministry Training at Entrust we have had several strategic planning meetings setting our goals for the next three years.

Much work is also going on for our Certified Facilitators working retreat next month here in Colorado Springs, bringing in some of our key Facilitators from across the USA and Canada.

Just today I have been asked to be Lead Facilitator for our Developing a Discerning Heart course in our new Mid-Atlantic hub the end of July/beginning of August this year -provided I'm not in Asia by then.

I would LOVE to see two or three women from Roxborough Church attend! For information go to our website www.entrust4.org/wwmt/hubs and select Mid-Atlantic. Contact me with any questions you may have - lloeffler@entrust4.org or liz.loeffler@gemission.org

Another praise is for Glen and Jann Dell my latest recruits from my church here, who have taken on the roll of curriculum distributors - a huge job of checking that those ordering curriculum meet the requirements, as well as making sure materials sent are properly logged in and participants in our trainings inputted in the database. While it is tedious administrative work it is essential to measuring the scope and effectiveness of our training. I'm so grateful they are quick learners, but even so, many hours have gone in to training them. Some of that training done at the rehab center where I was and some last week at my home.

We are still working to finish the development of our database and electronic registration forms that will allow information to automatically flow into the database without spending hours on the inputting.

There is an awful lot going on and I'd appreciate your prayers for proper time management of it all. While I attempted to keep up with the work flow during my recuperation, there still remains a backlog from that which makes me feel overwhelmed from time to time.

Why The Search For A Church That Meets Your Needs Is Futile

--Carey Nieuwhof

Any church leader who's been in ministry for more than a few months has heard different variations of it:

I'm looking for a church that meets my needs.

What are you going to do to better meet my needs?

I'm leaving this church to find one that better suits my needs.

The longer a Christian has been in church, the more likely it is that they've uttered a phrase or two like this from time to time.

I'm not against changing churches. I think everyone has one or maybe two church changes in them. Leaders change. The effectiveness of churches can vary in different seasons. And occasionally a church is downright toxic. I get that.

One or two church changes (when living in the same community) is understandable. And it's completely different from serial church shopping, which is a colossally bad phenomenon. The problem is deeper, though, than changing churches (as big a decision as that is). It's about the purpose of the quest. Should the criteria of a church meeting your needs be the reason you change churches? Well, what if the church was never intended to meet your needs? What if the furthest thing from God's mind when he created the church was to meet your needs?

Here are 5 reasons why I believe trying to find a church that meets your needs is futile.

1. A Church That Meets All Your Needs Is Probably Off-Mission

If a church ever meets all your needs as a Christian, it's probably off-mission. Because the church was never designed to meet all your needs. It was designed for glorifying God and showing his love to the world. A church that is only about meeting your needs is a church that's focused on insiders while the world is quite literally going to hell. The attitude that the church exists to meet the needs of members is one more remnant of consumer-Christianity, which is a strand of Western Christianity that continues to die.

2. You'll Uproot All Your Non-Christian Friends

If you're drifting from church to church to satisfy your needs, what happens to all the non-Christian friends you're building into? Oh wait... that almost never comes up in conversations with Christians who demand their needs be met. Because they usually have zero non-Christian friends. Their idea of church isn't about the mission. It's about them. Think about it. If you're living out your faith and sincerely praying for friends who aren't in a relationship with Christ, theoretically there are at least a handful of non-Christians who will be impacted by your move. But usually, that's not even on the radar screen of Christians who move to satisfy their needs. Because there are zero non-Christians involved.

3. Christianity Was Never About Satisfying Yourself

The heart of the Christian faith isn't about satisfying yourself, it's about dying to yourself. If Christians stopped indulging their preferences and starting focusing on Christ and on helping others, the church would be so much healthier. It's strange, but the happiest and healthiest people aren't those who are focused on meeting their own needs. There is a demonstrated correlation between giving away time and money and experiencing a feeling of happiness. Perhaps it's because that's exactly how God designed us. Because when we give, we get.

4. Your "Needs" Aren't Usually Needs

To be fair, we all have a few basic needs. A church should be biblically faithful. It should be reasonably healthy. And it should focus on the true mission of the church, which is to make disciples (not just be disciples but make disciples, which means reaching out).

When someone says that a church doesn't meet their needs, what they usually mean is a church doesn't suit their preferences. When you drill down, 'needs' often means: Is this my kind of music? Did the people notice me? Do I like this place? A lot of Christians these days ask, "Did I like it?" And the moment they don't, they're done. When no church meets your needs, maybe you should check your 'needs.'

If you really boil it down, because of the rise of consumer Christianity, too many church members think their mission is to criticize. A church member's mission isn't to criticize. It's to contribute. Criticizing has never been the Gospel. And that's never the best contribution we can make.

5. Your Needs Are Never Satisfied

Needs are like appetites. They grow when you feed them. You probably already know this, but if you're always trying to satisfy your needs, you'll never be satisfied. We all roll our eyes at the guy who 'needs' a new car, or a new computer, or a vacation, or a new phone when he pretty much has the latest (okay...confession...I can be that guy when it comes to tech...). The truth? Those aren't needs. But that's the problem with what we call needs. They're never completely satisfied.

So What Should You Do?

So what should you do if you feel your current church doesn't 'meet your needs'? Maybe the best thing you can do is focus on the mission God has given you. Which happens to look an awful lot like the mission God gave all of us: to love the world for which he died. Chances are there's a pastor who loves that mission, and maybe some other Christians in your church who are committed to that mission too. And if you give your life to it, you'll discover your needs don't matter nearly as much as they once did. In fact, you might even find them satisfied. If you take your eyes off what you want and begin to see what other people truly need, it will change how you live.
