A few words from Pastor Ray

What a blessing! As a youthful and growing, urban influencing, ministry in Northwest Philly, I am continually excited to see how God sets us up to minister faithfully in this great city. We have enjoyed the blessings of working with a great staff, and while we have spent the last few years in seasons of transition, we have each been blessed by the faithful ministry and witness expressed through our great team. I have personally grown to take great pride in the ways that our church has set our staff up to be successful, giving them space to dream, opportunities to seek to excel, and setting them up for a long-term future in ministry. These thoughts are increasingly present each year as we approach June, which has proven to be one of the natural breaks in our ministry rhythms. This year is no different...through our spring this year, we will be saying goodbye to 2 of our most influential staffers, only to trust the Lord to continue to draw into our fold new staff that will continue and even heighten the standards that precede them.

Christina Platt has served as TPP's Preschool Director and most recently as the Interim Director of Education Assistance with a major component of her ministry to provide joint leadership with Roxborough Church over the Nursery and Children's programming. As Christina moves on to other adventures and ministry opportunities, I am very thankful for the ways that she has helped to shape our children & family ministry here at Roxborough. Thank you Christina.

Jahlil Davis-Green has served in many differing capacities over the last 4 years. Currently Jahlil serves as the Interim Children's Pastor. Jahlil is going to pursue teaching here in Philadelphia through Teach for America. He has recently received his placement for the fall and is excited to finish his credentialing so that he is ready for September. Jahlil has handed off his ministry efforts to our new Children's Ministry Director Ricky Gomez.

It is impossible to capture in this article the impact that these folks have had on our ministry. It is also unfitting to try and project the impact that our new staff will have in the wake of this transition. However, it is befitting to suggest that God is still in control. God is seeing us through this season with joy and excitement. I am very pleased to introduce each of you to Mallorie Benensky. Mallorie is our newest staff person serving as our Nursery Coordinator. As the summer turns us toward the fall, please prayerfully consider how and where you might best engage in the ministry of the church in the fall. I am very pleased to see and seek what God has ahead of us.

Praying and serving together,
Pastor Ray Garcia

Table Talk

-Amy Karl, Food Ministry Coordinator

Just in case you haven't noticed, it's summer. This means The Philadelphia Project interns have arrived. There are three interns who are working with Mercy Ministry. They get to go out and be the hands and feet of Christ to our neighbors performing acts of kindness daily. Weekly during the summer Tasheem will bring a group of visiting students through The Table to assist in any way possible. Thank you Philadelphia Project for standing beside us, educating students to be servants of Christ, and showing the different ways help is needed in our city.

Wow, what a process putting in the walk-in has been. We had such a rainy spring, it was hard to get consecutive nice days to complete the outside work. Everything is now running, and the walk-in is fully installed. Words cannot express the level of excitement and gratitude wrapped around this endeavor. Thank you WW Smith for the grant to purchase and thank you Summer's Quality Services for the installation! We will be making good use of the walk-in for donated items from grocery stores, and to hold the city lunches for the children of summer camp. We get in a lot of fresh items from Trader Joe's, the picture shows close to 30 boxes received in early June. God is Good!

Hunger does not take a summer vacation. The Table will be feeding lunches, and serving approximately 40 families per week. Please, when you are at the grocery next, pick up an extra pasta, sauce, jelly, gallon baggies or breakfast food, and place it in the shopping cart. Guests of The Table truly appreciate your generosity.

During our weekly devotions, we remember to acknowledge where our food comes from, and the look of thanks on the faces of our guests is humbling. As I get to know the guests, and their stories, we are able to assist them according to some of their special needs due to your donations, we appreciate every last item. Thank you, Thank you, Thank you from the bottom of our hearts.

Elder Diner has been a lot of fun. We celebrated everyone's birthday in June with a BBQ, and a party including some games. Everyone enjoyed having the Pre-School perform. There will not be an Elder Diner for July, however, we'll see you on August 7 with another bunch of games, puzzles, and fun.

Be a Blessing and Be Blessed.

MISSIONARY NEWS

A PEEK FROM THE PEAK!

- Liz Loeffler

Yipes! Life has been crazy this spring and it's continuing into the summer.

The end of March, after two years of negotiation with our partners in Asia, that door closed. They were after much more of a business model than what we could present to them. We both agreed that the training had to be self-sustaining, but we differed on the methods to be used to do that. The number of trainings that would have had to happen by their way, we simply didn't have the personnel support.

It was disappointing to be sure, but then another door opened up to us with another publisher right in our own backyard --- David C. Cook (DCC). I believe at one point RPC used to use their Sunday School curriculum. They are only about a half hour away from my home and have a beautiful facility in the north of Colorado Springs.

Since mid-April we have had four meetings with them and actually we are at about the same point that we were with our in-country partners after two years.

The exciting thing about DCC is the technology they are developing that will make getting our participants through their preparation for our small groups training much more accessible.

From our years of traveling there we learn this Asian country literally runs on APPs --- those cute little icons on smart phones that do about everything except breath for you! WIFI is everywhere and people are on their phone 24/7.

Many have long commutes to and from work when a vast amount of reading and watching training video could be done. Doesn't totally supplant the quality time alone with the Lord in prep for our training, but we feel with DCC help and expertise along these lines, developing a training platform APPswill enhance our training and be a good way to track who is keeping up with the pre-work prior to our time together and who needs a little more encouragement to do so.

About a month ago I was asked to facilitate at our new training hub in Marriottsville, MD the end of July beginning of August. After which I'm planning to come to Philly for a two weeks and try to see as many folks as I can. Drop me a quick email if you'd like me to contact you for a time to get together. It's going to be like "speed dating" with my time so short, nevertheless I still would love some time with my Roxborough Church family.

Contact me at liz.loeffler@gemission.org if you see this a possibility or call me at 267-984-7721.

I hope to have time with several of you in August and bring you up to date face-to-face in all that the Lord is doing.

In closing thanks so much for your prayers for my rehab from my fall off the bottom steps into my downstairs last October. I'm practically at 100% and expect to be released soon from my twice a month physical therapy appointments.

At my discharge appointment with my surgeon back in January, he confirmed that I dislocated my right ankle, broke both of the ankle bones in that foot AND, both leg bones in my right leg --- I certainly don't do things halfway!

I can't believe how well I've healed after all that damage. I have to believe it is through the prayer of God's people I have had such a marvelous recovery. Thank you for your prayers on my behalf for all of this!

Youth Update from Pastor Matt Hillanbrand

Meet Our Summer Intern: Brooke Cobb

My name is Brooke Cobb, I am 22 years old. I was born and raised in Longboat Key Florida. I absolutely love getting to spend time with others and getting to talk about Jesus with them. I started participating in a local outreach where I live in Florida when I was in the seventh grade called Adopt a Block. Adopt a Block was an neighborhood outreach where any age group could come out and hangout with us while we got to serve them in whatever way that God allowed us to. At that time that sparked a major passion in me to start getting involved with children more. After that I started doing children's ministry at two different local Churches. God has really put a desire on my heart to tell others about Him and His love and grace that He has towards us! God has shown me from my own testimony that His grace is never ending towards us. He longs to draw us deeper into relationship with Him and as He has pulled me closer to Him, that has developed a spark for others to know about that same grace. I recently told God "help me to say yes to you no matter what", and shortly there after He opened this door to come to Philadelphia to be the intern for the Summer to work with middle school and high school students. I am so excited to see how God is going to move this Summer in the lives of those students and also here in this Church.

Continued Prayer

Church I am currently praying and looking for 4 adults (2 men and 2 women) to join us in serving our students on Sunday evenings. If serving middle school or high school students seems like a dream ministry to you, then we are the right place for you to serve! Please email me at youth@roxboroughchurch.org for more info.

Transitions

At the end of this school year we had to say good-bye to some incredible youth leaders, Sly, Amy, and Sabrina. Sly and Amy had gotten married this past April and the Lord had called them to Colorado to work with kids and college students. Sabrina has moved to New Jersey where she will be running a beauty salon for cancer patients. Pretty cool, huh! We are sad to see them go, but are very grateful for the investment that all three had made in our students.

We also had two of our students graduate high school this year:

Kacey and Ceoila. It was so great to see how the Lord has grown them in their time with us and we are so excited for what is in store for them in college.

Please keep everyone mentioned in prayer as they embark on their new journeys ahead.

Summer Schedule

IGNITE: Mondays at noon

Guys & Girls Small Groups: Wednesdays @ 3 pm

A Word on Worship

- Scott Granato,
Director, Music
& Worship

Hey everyone! I hope that you are enjoying your summer. This month I'd like to share an article I recently read about the importance of theology in our corporate worship. This article focuses on musicians, but I think that it is applicable to everyone. I hope you find it a blessing.

Why Theology Matters to Christian Musicians

by Bob Kauflin

This past weekend I spoke at the Christian Musician Summit on Why Theology Matters to Christian musicians. When Christian musicians get together, our tendency is to assume we all have our theology down and we can focus on honing our chops, discovering new gear, and improving our techniques and methodologies. Or maybe we think that theology isn't that important. Whatever the reason, I wanted to make clear that even at the Christian Musicians Summit, theology matters. I started by saying that theology is literally the "study of God," particularly as he has revealed himself in Scripture. It includes not only studying the Bible, but understanding how the different parts of the Bible fit together. Christian musicians need to know theology. But before I explained why, I shared four potential objections people might have.

1. People just argue about theology.

Yes. Partly because we're sinful. But mostly because there are some truths that are worth defending and fighting for. Even dying for.

2. Theology just makes life complicated.

It depends on what you mean by complicated. If you think that knowing how to play your instrument makes it complicated, then yes, theology makes life complicated. Theology doesn't make life complicated. It actually makes life simpler. It protects us from reading verses out of context or reading only our favorite passages. Theology tells us what words like glory, gospel, salvation, and love mean. Theology helps us understand what we're actually doing every Sunday. What complicates life is not theology but ignorance of theology.

3. Studying theology makes people proud.

It shouldn't. The better we know God, the humbler we should be. The more we should realize that what we know will always be dwarfed by what we don't know.

4. We'll never know it all anyway.

Just because we can't know everything about God, doesn't mean we can't know some things truly. God has revealed himself to us in his word and given us his Spirit so that we can know him.

I then went on to give three reasons why theology should matter to Christian musicians.

1. You're already a theologian. - Every Christian, musical or otherwise, is already a theologian. The question is, are you a good theologian or a bad one? We're good theologians if what we say and think about God lines up with what Scripture says and affirms. We're bad theologians if our view of God is vague, or if we think God doesn't really mind sin, or if we see Jesus as a good example and not a Savior, or if our god is too small to overcome evil or too big to care about us.

2. God reveals himself primarily through words, not music. - Because we've encountered God profoundly during times of musical worship, we can wrongly start assuming that words restrict the Spirit, while music enables us to experience God in fresh and powerful ways. If God had wanted us to know him primarily through music, the Bible would be a soundtrack, not a book. Music affects and helps us in many ways, but it doesn't replace truth about God. By itself, music can never help us understand the meaning of God's self-existence, the nature of the Incarnation, or Christ's substitutionary atonement. Simply put, truth outlasts tunes.

3. Being good theologians makes us better musicians.

- Theology teaches us what music is meant to do.
- Theology teaches us that worship is more than music.
- Theology teaches us that Jesus is better than music
